Colour

Aurora Doors for our frameless wardrobe system add new features to your design toolbox. The clean lines, colour options and brilliant high gloss finish will make all conventional doors look dull. Aurora Doors are the next generation in frameless wardrobe doors.

The evolution of wardrobe doors

Conventional sliding wardrobe door options are gyprock, vinyl, timber, mirror or painted MDF. None of these create a feature of the doors. Aurora Doors are different. They are sleek and modern with the painted glass having a lustrous and high gloss finish. The vibrancy of the colours will create a visually striking feature in any room.

Colour, colour, colour

With a range of five standard colours selected by colour specialists you will be able to find a colour that either blends into the overall look of the room or one that creates a visual impact.

For something unique consider using different coloured Aurora Doors within a wardrobe opening. And if our standard colour range is not enough ask us about our custom door options.

But that's not all there is to Aurora Doors

Using our innovative Aurora V-Groove technology you can create a pattern or theme to your design that can be engraved into the surface of your doors to make them really individual.

Does size really matter?

Aurora Doors are available in standard sizes to fit the most common opening heights of 2.1 metres and 2.4 metres. Using a combination of door panels most openings between 1.4 metres and up to 5.0 metres wide can be covered with our standard range. And if these don't fill your space ask us about our custom door options.
